KILLIN WINS TOP TOURISM AWARD

Killin Tourist Association Chairperson Mrs Paddy McKinnon receives the villages Antartex Village Tourist Award for Best Town or Village from Mr John Ridge (left) General Manager of Antartex.

It seems from figures recently released that Scotland's tourist trade has weathered the recession better than many other businesses. The figures for last year's season show a fall of only one per cent in real terms.

Ian Grant, the STB Chairman, gave his view that it was a satisfactory performance. "I do think the industry has fared rather better than some of the doomwatch pundits had predicted".

It seems that favourable rates of exchange since our departure from the E.R.M. meant that Scotland was an attractive destination for overseas tourists but also more Brits seek a holiday in 'the hills and glens', and forego that package trip to foreign parts!

In this general context our own little neck of the woods has kept the flag flying. The photograph above shows members of our own Killin Tourist Association receiving the top Antartex Tourism Award for 1992! Namely Best Town or Village!

The awards are limited to the areas of Loch Lomond, Stirling and Trossachs Tourist Board, nevertheless it's an area of some top class tourist competition, and our fulsome congratulations go to Killin for winning the 'best town or village award.

Sure we have an outstanding location - 'sweeping mountains, beautiful lochs, tumbling waterfalls, and quaint (sic!) traditional villages' - and we quote from the Tourist Board Press Release!

Nevertheless credit must be given to the people and trades of Killin who (the evidence is) present a welcoming face to the visitors, and to the local Tourist Association and other organisations who provide attractive events for the tourist.

We should also recognise Paddy McKinnon's efforts over the years as chairperson of the local Tourist Association and in particular her development of the Floral Award Scheme which has done so much to make the village more attractive.

All Change

Traffic will increase by 50% in the next 11 years! This startling figure was given by representatives of Central Region in a Public Meeting in the McLaren Hall on 8th December. The other startling figure was that only 5 members of Joe Public turned up.

An action plan on transport (not yet approved) was unveiled. What is in it for us? I hear you cry. - Well, precious little - Action is planned for the area round about Stirling - the Hillfoots area, Dunblane and Clackmannan (where a new railway is mooted), Park & Ride - bus service improvement Traffic calming (new name - 'to mak ye slow doon', might be a good thing for Killin).

Killin and District is in the northern panhandle fringe area - where alternative means of transport to the motor car are limited. However, Killin folk will be able to park & ride into Stirling (no new car parks are planned) so bus and laybys will be the order.

Killin's problems (remember 50% more cars in 11 years), congestion, parking, street lighting (bright but repulsive), aiming for heavy vehicles - are not addressed.

The plan can be seen in the Library - see Western Area Action Plan. (Killin is missed on the map). At last there is a flexi bus route marked including Tyndrum, Crianlarich, giving hospital linkage.

Yet More Winners!

Yet More Winners!

First we announce our Xmas Prize Crossword Winners. They are - David Main and Rachel Hunter, both residents of Killin. We congratulate them, and have despatched to each £5, courtesy of Bank of Scotland.

Second, our congratulations to Lesley Kettle - the delighted winner of the SPAR Grocer's star prize - a Gallon of Brandy. The date of the party is given on a later page!

St Fillans Mill

The last issue of the Killin News apparently put an optimistic gloss on the funding for the St. Fillans Mill project. As you will see from Helen McPhie's letter on page 4, while there is much good will and considerable planning activity, money is not yet on the line. Agreed in principle, yes, but not yet written into the budgets for 1993/94. Consequently, we apologise for jumping the gun, although given the money already spent on the building, we can't imagine that the project won't be carried through in the near future. The will seems to be there in the various organisations involved.

Draft Killin Settlement Plan

At the time of writing, we have not seen the insert provided for you in this issue by Lesley Roger of S.D.C's Planning Department. We hope you will give it your careful consideration and make your views known. A public meeting will be held in the village soon, to hear your views. Attend the meeting, for you ought to have the biggest say in what happens to your village.

We understand that this draft plan is the outcome of the work of the SDC Planning Department which started about two years ago, and in fact, was previewed in Issue No. 2 of the Killin News. While we certainly approve of, and indeed applaud, the work that goes into such draft plans, we still long for some ACTION! Many of the items in the draft are old chestnuts; parking problems, improvement in Breadalbane Park entrance, improvement in children's play area, St. Fillan's Mill and others. We suspect that by the time this Settlement Plan is incorporated into the Stirling District Local Plan, and it too is adapted to fit the Central 2000 Plan, little will actually have been achieved on the ground.

Held In Trust

The village of Killin has had many benefactors whose common purpose has been to alleviate the lot of people in the district who, through no fault of their own, have been suffering financial hardship.

Several Trusts have been set up, most before the days of the 'Welfare State', and are still in action. One of the trusts came into being in 1934 as the result of the Will of a local resident, Mr. George Hogg, a native of Morenish.

George Hogg spent his early years working in the Killin District, thereafter going to Ardrossan where he became a diver. For some 14 years he worked around Scotland and in Mexico. During the 1914-18 war he was employed by the Crown Agents for the Colonies at St. Helena, and then by the Admiralty on salvage work on torpedoed ships.

In 1912 Mr. Hogg built Morenish Place, Killin and resided there after the war until his death on 15th August 1934. His Will placed his estate in the hands of Trustees with the stipulation that they maintain the property at Morenish Place and disburse any surplus funds to persons in the Killin District, known or believed, to be in need.

During the first decade of the Trust, when rents at Morenish Place were very low, some £150 was so disbursed. In the decade ending Jan 1992 disbursements totalled some £5000.

The Trustees are (1) the Parish Minister of Killin and Ardeonaig, (2) The Manager of the Killin Branch of the Bank of Scotland, (both ex-officio) and one other appointed by the Trustees from time to time. At present I am the 'Third Man'. The Secretary and Treasurer to the Trustees is Mr David Main.

On behalf of the many who have benefited from George Hogg's Trust the Trustees wish to record their appreciation of the benevolence of this kindly local man.

Community Council

Local government is in the melting pot again, options are being considered by the Secretary of State. Community Councillors attended a conference in Doune on 5th December looking at the relationship between Community Councils and Local Authorities.

However, enough of the serious big issues and over to the smaller but no less serious local issues - highlights are:

Ewich Phantom Strikes Again

Graffiti saying rude things about our southern neighbours in the Crianlarich area is obliterated and re-appears again. This is unhelpful to the tourist trade and unnecessarily hurtful to those who have settled here. Community Service is being considered to help remove the offending words.

Cycling

Police will be taking action about dangerous cycling in Killin ie. along pavements and out of the one way street.

Need for a Residential Home

- linked to an ageing population. This is being pursued. Old people unable to cope are having to move out of the area. Crianlarich is looking for Kirk Care type provision.

Flooding outside Killin Kirk

The congregation is in danger of surprise baptism with the water hazard at the front door. Land Registry in Edinburgh is being approached as no one admits to ownership of the land.

Buses at Monemore

- the saga continues.

Dirty Dogs

Or is it the owners? Park and street fouling - there is a suggestion of pooper scoopers being provided.

Dalrigh turn off

- safety measures to be pursued.

Conducted Tour

A Councillors "perk" was a tour of the Killin Sewage works. An intrepid group in the rain, plumbed the depths - be reassured, the works can be expanded for an additional 500 population.

Campaign to Save Radio 4

Ever since the BBC was required to stop "simulcasting", that is broadcasting the same service on two different frequencies or wavelengths such as Long Wave and FM (or VHF), those parts of the country which are mountainous and sparsely populated have been at risk of losing one or other of their favourite programmes. Areas like Killin (population 600) may, within the next two or three years, lose their easy access to Radio 4, probably the most prestigious radio Channel.

The BBC's plan is to remove Radio 4 from the Long Wave and replace it with a 24 hour Newsservice. Radio 4 will be transmitted on FM only. FM reception is difficult in this area, if you can get it at all. Consequently we would be seriously deprived of the BBC's main Radio service. While FM reception is undoubtedly of a high quality, particularly suited to drama, music and stereo, it's only so, if you can get it!! And we can't. The BBC have informed us that it is "very unlikely" that they will be able to improve FM reception in our area, and they recommend that we install external FM aerials!

If you wish to take part in the protest you should write to your MP or MEP, or the national newspapers. For more detailed information about the campaign you should contact Rachel Mawhood, Radio 4 Campaign, c/o 32a Findhorn Road, London, SE7 7RL. Information can also be obtained locally from John Holmes (Killin 820511) or Sinclair Aitken (Killin 820358). Maybe you just want to say you don't want a 24 hour news service in place of Radio 4.

Letters

Policy & Strategic Planning Department
Stirling District Council, Stirling

Dear Sir

Re: St Fillans Mill, Killin
I was surprised when I read the front page article in the Killin News, November 1992 entitled "Green Light for St Fillans Mill" at some of the inaccuracies and I would like to clarify certain points with regard to the above project.

Stirling District Council have at this time only an "in principle" commitment to the project as our capital programme for 1993/94 is as yet unknown. The Scottish Tourist Board contribution has also yet to be approved by the Board. Forth Valley Enterprise have also still to give Board approval to their contribution which it is anticipated will be considered at the January Board Meeting. Therefore the "pursuit of money is now solved!" is incorrect.

The ground floor will house the Tourist Information Centre operated by the Loch Lomond, Stirling & Trossachs Tourist Board including Booking Service, Retail, Free Literature, Bureau de Change etc. and the restoration of the Mill Wheel. In the current proposals the first floor will host exhibition space to the Clans Gregor, MacNab, Campbell and McLaren, and exhibition space for the Local Heritage Society and Folklore elements. The top floor will tell the story of St Fillan and house St Fillan's artefacts - crozier and bell.

We are currently using the name "St Fillan's Mill" as a working title - no decision has been made on the name of the centre as yet, and we are working with the Loch Lomond, Stirling & Trossachs Tourist Board on a title to use as an effective marketing tool.

The Healing Stones are in safe keeping with the Area Tourist Board.

I, too, look forward to the realisation of this project following the finalisation of the funding package.

Yours etc.

Helen McPhie, Trainee Development
Officer
Economic & Tourism Dev. Unit, SDC

Tigh Muileann, Killin

Dear Sir

As a recent past proprietor of the Old Mill (St Fillans Mill), I was very pleased to read in the November issue that the green light had been given for the next stage of work on same, despite the enormous cost involved!

The purpose of this brief note is to advise the 'powers that be' that the changing of the river wrack on which the Healing Stones are bedded, should be on Christmas Eve, 24th December each year, and not on St Fillans Day which is rightly given as 20th of January, and on which no work should be carried out in the Mill. For nearly forty years, until very recently, I have been privileged to carry out this ceremony, and do hope that it will be carried out in the future.

Wishing St Fillans Mill and the Killin News best wishes for the future.

Yours etc.

Graham Wilson

The Stones Roll On

As Graham Wilson states above, the custom of bedding the Stones has been carried out on the 24th December within comparatively recent memory. However old oral and written tradition gives the date in olden times as the 20th January. What is certain is that for the past 100 years the custom has been carried out on the wrong day - changed perhaps for convenience sake when the present mill was built. What is important is that the custom continue. How about organising a bit of a ceremony in the future, perhaps a noggin or two for the New Year - visitors would love it.

CLUBS &

Angling Club AGM

The Annual General Meeting of the Killin and Breadalbane Angling Club was held in the Killin Hotel on 7th December 1992, chaired by the President, Dr Hamilton Weaver.

Concern was expressed yet again about the extent to which illegal (ie. without permit) fishing continues to take place - especially by bus groups. It continues to be a difficult problem and the bailiff continues to do his best to cope, as do other members. The opinion was that it is improving, if only slightly.

It was agreed to revive the use of the hatchery and a rota of volunteers was made up to look after it. It was noted that the Club has been granted by Mrs Sants, the salmon fishing in the Lochay from the Iron Bridge to Maragowan for a very reasonable sum.

Competitions in 1993 to be earlier in season, Loch Lomond outing hopefully to be in July/August (with their agreement?) and the Awa' Cup to be held again in Inverawe.

The committee was re-elected for another year. S.A.

Tuesday Club

Members of the Tuesday Club celebrated Christmas at a dinner held in the Killin Hotel. The evening went with a swing and was enjoyed by all.

Killin Lone Guides

The Lone Guides entertained parents and friends to a Christmas Evening on Wednesday 29th December. They presented a Play showing Christmas in various countries of Europe. Tea, mince pies and biscuits were served. A competition amongst the guests was won by Mrs K Ferguson whose "guess" came closest to the "number of sweets" in the jar.

Carpet Bowls

An open tournament was held on 5th December - 32 pairs entered. In the pairs the winners were: Brian Parks and Davie Campbell of Balquhider Club. 2nd - A pair from the Fearnan Club.

In the singles the winner was - Ian Hunter, Killin. 2nd - Neil Aitchison, Fearnan

Killin's Three-String Drama Group

The Youth Group

By the time you read this, Killin will have a fairly well polished and ready to perform, new group of keen youngsters ranging in age from 11 to 18 in what tentatively is being called the Youth Drama Group. There are approximately 15 youngsters attending every Wednesday evening. You will be able to enjoy the fruits of their work when they perform a one act play, called Christmas Incorporated written by Peter Horsier on 19th and 20th march.

Adult Groups

The second play is "Union Riots" by James Scotland, a comedy set in Glasgow in 1707, based on the true fact of the riots which took place there when the Scottish people were informed that their Parliament was to be united with the English one.

It is a 'romp' with all manner of problems arising when a union of a different sort seems to take on more importance than the political one raging outside. James Scotland was famous for his fast-moving dialogue and an eye for the humour in life and this play is no exception.

It also gives us the chance to put on a play with period costumes and we are indebted to the Riverside Group in Stirling who have lent them to us.

For our third play we first chose David Camption's "Can you Hear the Music?" but the production was beset with such a train of misfortunes that it had to be abandoned. We have now turned to another David Camption piece entitled "Relics". This is a challenging play and with only about eight weeks till the performance it will demand a lot of intensive effort. However, it offers a change from the light comedies we've done in the past and will give (he cast a shot at "playing it straight"

WWF AWARD For Green Team Walkers

You may remember that one fine October day the Green Team -pictured above- made the most of the sunshine (which hadn't been seen for weeks previously) and walked 5 miles to raise money for the WWF Forests of the World campaign.

The £389.35 that they raised between them was such a valuable contribution towards saving threatened forests that they received a commemorative shield from WWF.

To mark their achievement, a small presentation ceremony was held in the church hall and Janet Kennedy received the shield, on behalf of the Green Team, from Mr Graham Moore (see photo on right).

But, forests will benefit even more from the Killin walk. The Green Team didn't walk alone, and were joined by the Killin Lone Guides and several families from outwith the village, so the combined amount raised from the event was over £1096. And, as the government has pledged to double all the money raised, the grand total will be very impressive. So well done all those who walked and thank you to all their sponsors.

W.R.I.

The 69th Birthday Party was held in the Falls of Dochart Hotel. It was one of the best evenings we have had. The cake, made for us by the Callander Bakery, was cut by Isa Campbell a faithful member for 61 years.

Competition - "Go Green" was won by Sheila Ferguson. "Best Limerick" was won by Mary Twigg. The entertainment was organised by Pat Christie and Helen Gledhill.

Some gentlemen friends took part in one of our games - "Guess Who I Am?" and I hope they enjoyed our company as much as we enjoyed theirs. They were Bob Law, Bill Rew, Allan Walker and Colin McRae.

Thanks to the Falls of Dochart for looking after us so well.

Karate Club

West Central Freestyle Karate Club, which was formed last September, have had a very successful first six months. Club members have had their first taste of competition in the Scottish Regional Championships on November 29th.

Colin MacGregor, Scott Bergin and Scott Farquharson all fought in the individual and team events, but were out-pointed by more experienced opponents of higher grades. However, the club won a first in the women's open, a second in the under 12 team event and a third in the under 16 individual.

The quarterly grading took place the following Sunday, with everyone passing. A demonstration took place later with a good attendance from parents and friends.

There are plenty of events planned for the next few months with the next grading on 7th March. New members are always welcome and you need no special gear to start - just determination.

His message appears to be as welcome and effective in jungle clearings as sports stadia or university campuses. The welcome personal confidant of Presidents, royalty and the like Mr Graham's ministry has inspired and changed the hearts and lives of countless ordinary people.

Focal point will be the Billy Graham mission in Essen, Germany, where thousands will gather each night to hear him preach. This will be beamed via satellite to enable viewers in homes, churches and satellite centres to see and hear Billy Graham, special music and inspiring true stories of people whose lives have been changes by the Gospel. Others taking part include Kriss Akabussi, Rosemary Conley, Cliff Richard, Paul Jones, Glen Hoddle - some to sing, we guess, and others maybe to kick a ball!

If you would like to take part talk it over with one of the local team.

Remember - evenings 17 - 21 March.
